Scene 1

LARS starts ranting when at a restaurant to his two daughters. LARS often continues talking without waiting for responses and he over-annunciates and emphasizes pronouns like a name dropper.

LARS

How are you girls doing? Hm? Things going well? You...you did pretty well at that game, Karen. Nothing but...but good solid playing, ya know? Good stuff, good stuff. You know, I was talking to Ennis Zuchek on the sidelines. He's a piece a work, that guy; couldn't stop talking about his boys. You now, can you believe the youngest is starting at Georgetown this fall? He's a freshman in high school! You know...um, you know what that means? Hm? Do you? It means he's going to Georgetown Prep. It's the most expensive high school in the country. Don't look at me like that. But you guys, you guys coulda went there. I'm serious. You're smarter than him but he's all tied into that community and what not.

LARS rubs his thumb and finger together to indicate money.

And Palmers is just as bad. Kevin Palmers is a prick. Him and Zuchek both; just walked into daddy's company. They didn't uh... they didn't do anything to get there. What? Don't look at me like that. Palmers was friends with Ennis' dad and Ennis has just been coasting his whole life. And now, Georgetown Prep!

The daughters more frequently start trying to interrupt him from this point onward but LARS gets getting noticeably louder.

Georgetown Prep... Who the fuck does he think he is? My daughter's school isn't good enough. Well his son can go... can go... fly a kite! He's the same as Ennis Zuchek. He's the same. Spawn of Satan. That little prick with his little prick. He's a bastard kid, ya know? He was born outta wedlock. Did I tell ya that? He is. He's a little fucking bastard—
